Inhabit the Hologram

WRITTEN BY SHEILA WOOD
WITH INSPIRATION FROM THE HOLOGRAPHIC UNIVERSE

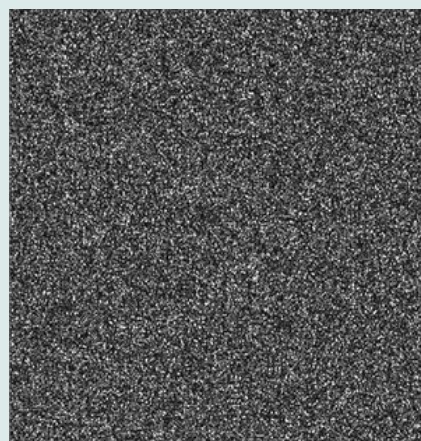

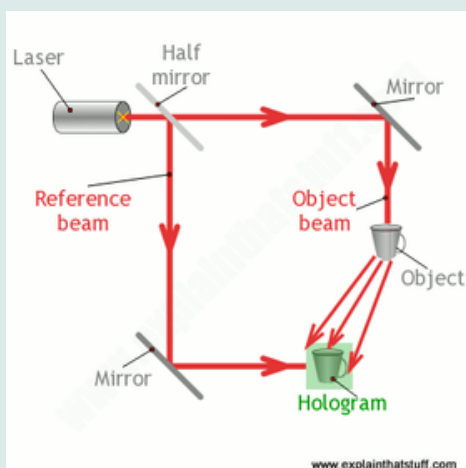

‘If you connect to the correct frequency, you can go anywhere in the universe.’ Many of you have heard me say this. At this point in human evolution, scientists pivot around models that can lay the foundations for understanding the workings of the human consciousness. In the latest channeled message from Yonck (see pages 6-8) a reference is made to the holographic model of consciousness. This prompted me to pick up the book The Holographic Universe by Michael Talbot.

In this book the author makes a case for the hologram as a means to picture many aspects of consciousness; the inclusion of both particle and wave theory, the activities around most paranormal phenomena, the storage of memory, information flow from other realms, discoveries from other lifetimes, time travel, and anything universe related. The one outlier seems to be PK (psychokinesis) which is the movement of objects using mental focus. But since this is probably the way the pyramids were built, I have no qualms about it being included in this model of reality at some point.

Talbot basically describes from this model how information from all lives is stored and retrieved, how communications with beings from other realms is possible, how conversations with others on the other side is possible, and how communication with Yonck is possible. Described as a holographic soup connected in time and space, he refers to the Akashic Records. As theories and data originating from the scientists Bohm and Pribram were presented, the intricate parts of a complex lego structure easily fell into place. Telepathy, out-of-body experiences, NDEs, lucid dreams, mystical experiences, feelings of cosmic unity, and miraculous healings were discussed and accepted by one or both.

Foundationally, a hologram is produced when a split beam of laser light, a light wave with a pure and coherent frequency, is directed to a photographic plate in conjunction with reflected light from an object. When this happens, an interference pattern is recorded on a piece of film. To the naked eye, this pattern looks like an amorphous nondescript layer of material. In order to make the three dimensional holographic form of the reflected object appear, another laser beam must be shined through the film. This is the beam that holds the frequency required to ‘go anywhere in the universe’, ie. to unfold needed information from the enfolded memory of everything. The amazing thing is that if this film were divided into small pieces, each would contain all the information of the whole. In other words, the entire object is seen in each piece. So, the analogy is that consciousness is whole and parts do not exist separately but can be visualized or accessed if unfolded within the whole. This speaks to the fact that we carry with us information from our entire soul journey and are in fact a microcosm of the cosmic consciousness, our conscious contributions in constant flux and often described as chaos moving toward order. (Yonck 09/13/2024) and (Yonck 8/15/23)

Pribram in his research on how the brain functions, fully points to how memories are stored in a distributed fashion and not localized to any one point in the brain. This finding led to new discoveries in brain and vision research stemming from the hologram model and were presented by scientists worldwide. As relates to the hologram theory, B.J. Fourier mathematically devised a way to transform any pattern into the language of simple waves and simple waves back into the complex pattern, much as television works - images are sent through electromagnetic frequencies and converted back to images by the TV.

From a quantum physics standpoint, Bohr portends that particles do not present until they are observed, which supports the theory that particles are not independent but part of a whole. This supports the theory that information is stored in waves and physicality is particle based. He emphasized the importance of wholeness and projected that parts are recognized by the whole. This in part led to his thinking that at the subquantum level where quantum potential operates, location ceases to exist. All points in space become equal to all other points in space and nothing is separate from anything else – hence the principle of nonlocality. In metaphysics we learn that we are all connected energetically and as Max Planck so eloquently postulated “As a man who has devoted his whole life to the most clear headed science, to the study of matter, I can tell you as a result of my research about the atoms, this much: There is no matter as such! All matter originates and exists only by virtue of a force, which brings the particles of an atom to vibration and holds the minutest solar system of the atom together. We must assume behind this force, the existence of a conscious and intelligent Mind. This Mind is the matrix of all matter.”

Much has been learned and postulated since the 1950's but the cement that holds the holographic concept together is the unending protuberance of fact and theory that backs up our need to consciously assume the role of participant in the whole, the whole of humanity and the whole of the universe. So we see that when Yonck urges us to move toward sovereign wholeness, he is actually guiding the evolution toward understanding our own consciousness and how it contributes to the matrix in all of existence.

A holographic representation has both implicate and explicate order. The image encoded on film represents implicate (enfolded) order and the appearance of the film represents explicate (unfolded) order, a perceptible version of the image. A moving electron can be visualized as exhibiting a continuous series of unfoldments and enfoldments and our existence is within the confines of the whole. Our past and implications for the future are found enfolded in each small region of space and time, in each piece of the hologram.

Many other aspects of metaphysics are discussed in this book including an etheric (Divine) human blueprint and the origin and healing of disease. Most uplifting to me were the acknowledgments of stigmata, shamanism, healing, and many other healthful practices that have been witnessed. Most familiar to me were the abilities to see, from scientific postulation, where Spirit takes us when we are in a session on a healing journey. Much gratitude.

Both Yonck and I are interested in what is on your mind as you progress through spiritual learning curves. Your questions will also help others to learn about different aspects of metaphysics.

This page will reflect your input and curious mind. Hopefully, it will be a continuous dialogue and serve to develop concepts as inputs are collected.

As we all know, often answers to questions birth more questions.

So in a word - this is the

Inhabit the Hologram

11/25/2024. Sheila J Wood. Channeled through Yonck from Orion with an AI simplification keeping the original message and meaning intact.

Carrying through to the avenues of power are the resounding echoes of revelations past. The boomerang phenomenon occurs as a universal cycle and is a reminder of the horrors of war. The connection to truth has been transfigured to exclude adequate insight into the necessities of being human. Humanity exists on a scale of repetitious activities that outline life's purpose and enjoyment. It is as if a sideways mirror is being applied.

Your task as a nation is to wind your way through the mirror maze and get to the other side where clarity reigns. To do this, one must refrain from engaging in the psychological warfare that is presently occurring. Stay steady, stay focused on the work at hand, both from a practical day-to-day standpoint and from a spiritual standpoint.

From the holographic model of consciousness, refer to internal or spiritual evolution. Humans' consciousness is described as what happens when two planes come together, one from the ethos, and one from the individual. The purity of expansion and complicity lies in the willingness to be whole from within, hence the reason for emphasizing 'sovereign wholeness'.

We see clearly now the reason for and the need for individual sovereign wholeness as it is the strength needed to get to the other side of the mirrored maze. Stand forthwith (immediately) at the gabled (canopy) of reality from a position of oversight. The spiritual warriors will lead, from within and without, to a place of understanding, the energy from which all are born. Holistically the hologram will remain but the emphasis of love and understanding needs to dominate.

No one, no country, no leader can steal from you the power of thought and the wielding of compassion. What is at work now is the reluctance to work through karma. Nation against nation is the external manifestation of this karma. Nation against itself is the unwillingness of leaders and citizenry to recognize karma.

Sight will be restored when the entire coalition of manifesters move to sustain harmony. Count the limitations to this and replace limitation with possibility. Cunning and foresight are necessary to move through the reluctant withdrawal of low vibration energy. Do not passively watch it play out but be active in the delegation of paths for spiritual evolution.

Rely on your armies (spiritual) to lead behavior toward solutions for living harmoniously against a backdrop of blind consciousness. Counter your reluctance to be optimistic with the reserve within sovereign wholeness that you have been so diligently working on.

Holographically restore the distorted plane to wholeness. Bring in the boundaryless confabulation (false, distorted memory) of many dimensions that influence wholeness. Bring the distorted sideways mirrored image of consciousness into the realm of the sovereignly whole hologram of self. Patience and honor will be restored, the sight of which will be come evident.

Love to all,
Yonck

An AI simplification keeping the message and meaning intact.

The echoes of past revelations resonate through power structures, reminding us of the horrors of war. The "boomerang phenomenon" represents a universal cycle, highlighting how truth has been altered, neglecting our basic human needs. Humanity often engages in repetitive actions that define our purpose and joy, as if we're looking into a mirror.

Your task as a nation is to navigate through this mirror maze to reach clarity. Avoid engaging in the psychological battles happening now. Stay focused on practical daily tasks as well as your spiritual journey.

Consider internal or spiritual growth as a holographic model of consciousness, where personal and collective experiences intersect. True growth comes from being whole within yourself, which is why 'sovereign wholeness' is important.

Recognizing the need for individual sovereign wholeness is crucial for navigating the mirrored maze. Stand firmly in reality with a broad perspective. Spiritual leaders will guide us to understanding, from which all life originates. While the hologram of existence remains, love and understanding must take precedence.

No one can take away your power of thought and compassion. The current struggles between nations reflect unresolved karma. The real challenge lies in acknowledging this karma within ourselves.

Clarity will return when we collectively strive for harmony. Identify limitations and transform them into possibilities. Use wisdom to overcome negative energy. Don't just observe; actively shape paths for spiritual growth. Lean on your spiritual strengths to foster harmonious living amidst confusion. Counter any pessimism with the inner strength you've cultivated through sovereign wholeness. Aim to restore balance to the distorted aspects of consciousness. Integrate the many influences that affect our sense of wholeness. With patience and respect, clarity will emerge.

Love to all,
Yonck
